A new season has arrived

Where are you? What are you doing? Are you tough enough?

Where are you in today's story? Have you found your calling yet? Or are you merely living from one day to the next?

I believe the time has come for every one of us to know what we are called for. The season is here where we need to know exactly where we fit into the body of Christ. As individuals, you and I know that we cannot be the whole body. Every one of us has a very specific function to fulfil – a function without which the body of Christ will suffer. It hardly matters which church we come from or which denomination we fall under. Our colour, race and background are all insignificant. What matters is that we know what our place in the story is, that we understand how we fit into the current season.

I would like to share with you a few basic steps or guidelines from my experience as I continue on my personal journey to finding my calling and purpose in the body of Christ.

Morning Vulnerability Coaching for WOMEN

We will talk about:

- Who we are in Christ
- Learning to let our words line-up with our actions
- Having the courage to be vulnerable because we know who we are
- Healing for ourselves and others by risking vulnerability
- Trusting God to be our 'wall of fire' instead of protecting ourselves
- Breakthrough: Becoming a woman that can be trusted with the heart of her husband.

As with everything in life, our first step should be to PRAY. Hearing from God is essential. That is why Paul tells us in 1 Thessalonians 5:17 to “pray without ceasing.” Ask God about your calling in prayer – and wait patiently for Him to answer. God works miracles through a lifestyle of prayer.

The second step is to examine our TALENTS. Our talents and natural aptitudes often form part of our calling and the purpose we have to fulfil in the body of Christ. On my journey to finding my calling and purpose, I initially shied away from my talents. My heart’s desire was to hear from God what He wanted me to do. I will always treasure His answer, “Simply use that which I have already deposited you at birth. You will grow into it, and that will become part of your purpose in My body.”

Thirdly, define what your SPIRITUAL GIFTS are. It is crucial for us to remember that our spiritual gifts are not our calling. They do play an essential part in our calling and determine our place in the body of Christ. But our spiritual gifts are not the same as our calling. The Bible teaches about three categories of spiritual gifts. In Romans 12:3-8, Paul describes our redemptive gifts, which “God has distributed” to each of us (Romans 12:3). In Ephesians 4:7-16, we read about the spiritual gifts, which are “Christ’s gift” (Ephesians 4:7). Lastly, 1 Corinthians 12:8-10 describes the spiritual gifts, which are “given through the Spirit” (1 Corinthians 12:8).

A number of great teachings on the spiritual gifts by teachers such as Arthur Burke are available on the Internet.

I firmly believe that we need to know which place God desires for us to fill in the body of Christ. If we don’t, we will simply continue to wonder aimlessly through life, seeking the place which He prepared for us. Once we know and understand our calling and start walking in it, we will continue to grow in strength and vigour. Moreover, as we practice and learn more about our calling under the leadership of the Holy Spirit, the body of Christ will be fortified against the powers of darkness.

One of my entry questions was, are you tough enough? I’m not talking merely physically. We need to toughen up spiritually as well.

One of the important questions we need to ask ourselves is whether we know the Bible. Do we know what the Word says, or do we simply feed off what others say or what we hear? Do we ask directly from the Main Source above and do we remain plugged into Him continuously? Is it our aim every day to become more Christ-like than yesterday?

The time has come for us to return to the source, to the Word of God, which is filled with PROMISES, GUIDELINES and INSTRUCTIONS to become more like Christ. All we have to do is to read. Most men, including myself, find this difficult. Yet we simply have to make time in our busy schedules.

One of the practical steps my wife and I have recently taken was to get up a bit earlier every morning to spend an hour reading together before our day starts. We don’t read to one another. We don’t even read from the same book or from identical passages in the Bible. But we spend the time in the same room, seeking God together. I have found that it not only fills my spirit, but also strengthens my bond with my wife. Remember, in a Godly marriage, our wives also play a role in our callings.

So, my question to you today is: are you ready for a new season? Are you ready to hit the rocky road and experience God where He wants you to walk, IN YOUR CALLING, part of where He needs you in His body?

Blessings
Henry Strauss

Spirit School

with Retah McPerson

The Spirit School is an intimate 2 day breakaway with the King of Kings.

Retha's heart is to teach the bride of Christ how to enter into His presence. The teaching will center upon walking in the Spirit, living by Faith, and not by sight and cultivating a deep, intimate, love relationship with the King.
