The Education institutions graduate thousands of students every year, however not all graduates secure employment. The majority of these graduates are youth, hence active and full of energy to participate in the labor market.

The Youth Leadership Development Programme Alumni Association (YLDCAA) in partnership with the Friedrich Ebert Stiftung Namibia (FES) conducted a baseline study on Unemployed Graduates. The study focused on gaps in the education system that cause the problem of unemployed graduates.

It is against this background, we invite to share and exchange view on the subject matter.
